

Day 5
December 15, 2022

Still cold and rainy, but I decided to take a little walk and the Pantheon was only a couple blocks away. When I booked the hotel I knew it had a cobble stone street in front of the hotel and I thought how charming, but now that I have had to walk on them not so nice. It's very uneven and hard to walk. Lots of little cars every where, they are so cute.

On the way back I stopped and had dinner at a little restaurant across the street from my hotel.
