

Day 1
December 11, 2022

My around the world trip got off to a rough start. Today was the Honolulu Marathon. My neighbor Steve (Police Officer) took me to the Airport, and after a few detours and blocked off streets we made it. We left my apartment early (3:30am) to compensate for the marathon, and when got to the air port no staff on duty, I guess they got stuck at one of the detours or we can just call it island time. My flight on Delta did not depart until 8:00am. Long lines at security and I finally got to my gate five minutes before boarding. I was flying first class on a Delta Boeing 767-300 Winglets. (Flight: DL 0368, seat 3D).

Breakfast was Pear & Raisin French Toast Pudding with persimmon honey, creme anglaise, and charred oranges (not my favorite). It was a very pleasant flight and a nice crew, we arrived at the LAX Los Angeles Airport about 3:30pm and after getting my luggage I took a hotel shuttle to the Embassy Suites by Hilton Los Angeles International Airport North. The hotel had big rooms and two (2) complimentary drinks. I don't drink so I gave my tickets to a couple in the bar. Nice hotel, I was given room No. 716, big rooms especially for Hawaii standards.
